

NADE Journal Submission Guidelines

Deadline for submission of your abstract: October 1, 2010
Deadline for submission of your paper: December 15, 2010

Types of Papers Accepted:

1. Research papers that report original, primary research in any area of Questioned Document Examination (QDE) or areas of interest to QDE. Research papers must include an abstract and full bibliography. They must begin with a statement of purpose and end with a statement of findings.
2. Annotated bibliographies that survey the published literature on a specific topic in the field of QDE.
3. Case reports that present one particular, and/or unique, aspect of a QDE case which is no longer subject to litigation or confidentiality. Please provide an abstract, describe what was unusual about the case you are reporting, and summarize your findings. It is the responsibility of the author to obtain any required permission for use of material submitted. Should any litigation arise from improper use of materials, the liability belongs to the individual author, not to NADE.
4. Technical reports that discuss a single topic regarding equipment or methodology.
5. Letters to the Editor that offer brief, specific comment on a current issue or on a paper previously published in the Journal.
6. OpEd (Opinion/Education) pieces that set forth an opinion, pose a question, or inform about some aspect of QDE.
7. Commentaries/Book Reviews.

Method of Submitting Papers/Abstracts:

1. Send an electronic file of your abstract or the text of your paper in Microsoft WORD via email attachment to jjoseph@jjhandwriting.com . Please submit your exhibits/illustrations/charts (black & white and/or color images) electronically in JPEG formats at 300 dpi. Additionally, provide information indicating where exactly, within the text of your paper, each image would appear. We reserve the right to relocate images within the Journal, if necessary.
2. When scanning your images, please use graphics programs wherever possible such as Adobe Photoshop, Microsoft Publisher, etc. to ensure that your images will be clearly reproduced. Each image should have a figure number by which it is referred to in your paper. It should also have a caption which succinctly identifies it and states its purpose.
3. Additionally, as part of the above, please submit one camera-ready print copy or electronic file, at 600 dpi, of each of your images with figure numbers.

Style and Format:

1. Authors may in general follow any standard style manual. That published by the U.S. Government Printing Office is recommended since it is regularly up-dated and readily available.
2. Title of the paper is centered at top.
3. Name(s) of author, and if multiple, the author who will deal with the Editorial Board should be clearly indicated.
4. A brief professional bio of the author(s) including degrees, certifications and relevant QDE professional information including current contact information.
5. Include an abstract and a list of keywords.
6. The paper should have clearly demarcated sections. There are no rigid requirements in this regard, only that it should be logically developed and helpful to the reader.
7. All papers must include references to support assertions and must present some information or viewpoint regarding some aspect of QDE which would be of value to readers.
8. Bibliographic citations may follow standard sociological practice or legal practice, or other acceptable practice.
9. You may use endnotes.

Copyright:

All papers published in the NADE Journal are copyrighted by the Journal. After publication, copyright reverts to the author, although it is agreed that NADE retains rights to reprint papers in any format for any purpose it deems fit, and to sell such papers at whatever price it wishes to set. All proceeds from the NADE Journal sales are property of the NADE Treasury.

Editorial Board:

The editorial board, comprised of several NADE members and/or guest editors, will read every submission. Feedback and comments from the editorial board are pooled and returned to the author for corrections, further consideration and revision. The purpose of the board is to assist authors and NADE members in writing successful papers, and to ensure that a professional journal is published. The board may accept or reject abstracts and/or papers.

Jacqueline A. Joseph, Editor-in-Chief
The NADE Journal
jjoseph@jjhandwriting.com
1-800-698-8954

8-6-10. Subject to change.